

NOTES IN THE MARGINS

Maya and Alex both loved books. One day, they reached for the same old travel guide in the cozy bookstore. Their hands touched, and they smiled.

For their first date, they went to the old cinema. They watched a movie and shared popcorn. It was perfect.

They took a road trip through the countryside. They followed the maps in their travel guide and discovered beautiful places.

They visited a tiny bookshop full of hidden treasures. They found books to read together.

At the antique market, they found old postcards and funny souvenirs. They bought a ticket to put in their travel guide.

They moved into a big loft together. It was a creative space where Maya could write and Alex could design.

They got married in a library, surrounded by their favorite books. It was a perfect ending to their story.

And they lived happily ever after, with notes in the margins of their favorite book.